

What happens when someone registers an interest in adoption on our web site?

If someone completes our on-line form for a particular agency or department their details are passed directly on to them.

For someone who expresses a general interest in the adoption of children up to the age of 6 their details will be passed on to their local social services or social work department.

We pass on to our subscribers details of nearly all those who express an interest in the adoption of children over the age of 6.

‘Subscribing is a very cost effective way of generating interest. In the last six months over 50% of all our enquiries have come through your service.’

Our Recruitment Works

Last year over 10,000 people
told us so!

Why don't you try an experiment. Find out just how easily you can express an interest in adoption for your organisation outside of office hours and at weekends. If you can register your interest by using one search engine and clicking your mouse only a few times then you don't need us. Otherwise read on.....

With over 50,000 visitors to our web site each month, becoming one of our subscribers is the best way to get noticed and regularly receive expressions of interest, from members of the public.

We know just how important it is to provide people with the ability to register an interest on-line. Last year over 8,500 people completed a form on our website doing just that. A further 3,000 expressed their interest by telephone.
